ENGLISH LANGUAGE ARTS

Grade 12: Unit 3

Advanced Placement English Literature and Composition

Unit on Politics in Literature & Poetry
Course Description

Advanced Placement (AP) English Literature and Composition course consists of the development of skill in close reading, analyzing text, writing (critically, analytically and effectively), different forms of rhetoric (narration, description, exemplification, and comparison/contrast), along with speaking, listening, and media literacy skills. This course has been developed using the requirements and guidelines of the current AP English Literature and Composition course description. The AP Literature and Composition course is organized by thematic units pertaining to: the American experience, gender/feminine experience, poetic experiences, Shakespeare experience, and literature and politics. All thematic units come under the umbrella of the following overarching essential questions: How does literature reflect the human condition? How does literature help the reader understand him or herself as well as others? How does literature reveal timeless, universal themes? How does literature, i.e., writing from a particular era, exemplify the concerns, desires, and wishes of that era? Each marking period is devoted to close reading of fiction, novels, plays, and poetry selections, which students will analyze with a focus on drawing conclusions about and reacting to the author’s purpose, intended audience, word choice, tone, author’s syntax and overall style. Students will explore and respond in writing, both formally and informally with timed writing prompts. During instruction students will learn to use reading strategies that help them become effective readers. Some of these strategies include questioning the author’s intentions, inferring, visualizing, synthesizing and learning multiple strategies to help students monitor their reading comprehension. This course includes at least two major American authors and two major British authors from the sixteenth century to contemporary times. The media literacy skills will educate students in analyzing print, audio sources, and visual media using a repertoire of response strategies.

The Advanced Placement (AP) English Literature and Composition course is designed to assist students in developing the technical writing abilities and the critical lens that is expected of the college level writer. Students will research, organize, and verify information for accuracy and relevancy. They will develop creative ideas to present this information, and organize their work to meet deadlines. They will also publish their work in the school and in the larger community (e.g. online). The course is planned around universal themes and essential questions to encourage students to engage in deep meaningful discussions to socialize intelligence. The workshop model is employed so that all students can improve their skills and voice as writers. The trained teachers will instruct students using the workshop model philosophy with the use of the “I DO, WE DO, YOU DO” method of instruction. The Standards are designed to provide a clear understanding of what students are expected to learn, so that teachers and parents know what they need to do to help them. The standards are designed to be robust and relevant to the real world, reflecting the knowledge and skills that our young learners need for success in college and careers. It is our goal to establish a community of learners to become productive citizens in society striving towards pursuing their life-long goals. Through an enriching and rigorous education and with on-going support our students will be fully prepared for the future and compete successfully in the global economy.

- CRP2. Apply appropriate academic and technical skills.
  Career-ready individuals readily access and use the knowledge and skills acquired through experience and education to be more productive. They make connections between abstract concepts with real-world applications, and they make correct insights about when it is appropriate to apply the use of an academic skill in a workplace situation.

- CRP4. Communicate clearly and effectively and with reason.
  Career-ready individuals communicate thoughts, ideas, and action plans with clarity, whether using written, verbal, and/or visual methods. They communicate in the workplace with clarity and purpose to make maximum use of their own and others’ time. They are excellent writers; they master conventions, word choice, and organization, and use effective tone and presentation skills to articulate ideas. They are skilled at interacting with others; they are active listeners and speak clearly and with purpose. Career-ready individuals... think about the audience for their communication and prepare accordingly to ensure the desired outcome.

- CRP5. Consider the environmental, social and economic impacts of decisions.
  Career-ready individuals understand the interrelated nature of their actions and regularly make decisions that positively impact and/or mitigate negative impact on other people, organization, and the environment. They are aware of and utilize new technologies, understandings, procedures, materials, and regulations affecting the nature of their work as it relates to the impact on the social condition, the environment and the profitability of the organization.

- CRP6. Demonstrate creativity and innovation.
  Career-ready individuals regularly think of ideas that solve problems in new and different ways, and they contribute those ideas in a useful and productive manner to improve their organization. They can consider unconventional ideas and suggestions as solutions to issues, tasks or problems, and they discern which ideas and suggestions will add greatest value. They seek new methods, practices, and ideas from a variety of sources and seek to apply those ideas to their own workplace. They take action on their ideas and understand how to bring innovation to an organization.
Career Ready Practices

- CRP7. Employ valid and reliable research strategies.
  Career-ready individuals are discerning in accepting and using new information to make decisions, change practices or inform strategies. They use reliable research process to search for new information. They evaluate the validity of sources when considering the use and adoption of external information or practices in their workplace situation.

- CRP8. Utilize critical thinking to make sense of problems and persevere in solving them.
  Career-ready individuals readily recognize problems in the workplace, understand the nature of the problem, and devise effective plans to solve the problem. They are aware of problems when they occur and take action quickly to address the problem; they thoughtfully investigate the root cause of the problem prior to introducing solutions. They carefully consider the options to solve the problem. Once a solution is agreed upon, they follow through to ensure the problem is solved, whether through their own actions or the actions of others.

- CRP11. Use technology to enhance productivity.
  Career-ready individuals find and maximize the productive value of existing and new technology to accomplish workplace tasks and solve workplace problems. They are flexible and adaptive in acquiring new technology. They are proficient with ubiquitous technology applications. They understand the inherent risks—personal and organizational—of technology applications, and they take actions to prevent or mitigate these risks.

- CRP12. Work productively in teams while using cultural global competence.

Career-ready individuals positively contribute to every team, whether formal or informal. They apply an awareness of cultural difference to avoid barriers to productive and positive interaction. They find ways to increase the engagement and contribution of all team members. They plan and facilitate effective team meetings.

Interdisciplinary Connections

Model interdisciplinary thinking to expose students to other disciplines.

Interdisciplinary Connections:

The Advanced Placement (AP) English Literature and Composition course emphasizes active questioning, analysis, and research skills for students to effectively frame their own arguments by defending, challenging, substantiating, and qualifying their assertions. Thus, exposing students to historical content necessitates making history an essential research source. Using technology and identifying reliable sources also plays a big role when defending or challenging ideas as it is imperative to be able to discern facts from fiction when developing proficiency in sourcing information. Communication, public speaking, and publication skills are involved when developing fluency in student writing skills. For example, when crafting writing assignments students must consider their audience and mode of communication. Students will need to identify the best form of communicating their ideas/analysis, which will enable them to develop proficiency when writing and sharing their ideas over an extended period of time. As a result, the more confident a student becomes in their writing the more proficient they become in communicating and are therefore more inclined to share their ideas with society by way of informal publication such as online blog posts and school displays.
Enrichment

Accommodate Based on Students' Individual Needs: Strategies

The goal of Enrichment is to provide learners the opportunity to participate in extension activities that are differentiated and augment the district’s curriculum. Teachers are to accommodate based on student individual needs.

Seeking to build each learner's capacity to do the following:

- Show a high degree of intellectual, creative and/or artistic ability and demonstrate this ability in multiple ways.
- Pose questions and exhibit sincere curiosity about principles and how things work.
- The ability to grasp concepts and make real-world and cross-curricular connections.
- Generate theories and hypotheses and pursue methods of inquiry.
- Produce products that express insight, creativity, and excellence.
- Possess exceptional leadership skills.
- Evaluate vocabulary
- Elevate Text Complexity
- Inquiry based assignments and projects
- Independent student options
- Tiered/Multi-level activities
- Purposeful Learning Center

- Open-ended activities and projects.
- Form and build on learning communities.
- Providing pupils with experiences outside the ‘regular.’
- Altering the pace the student uses to cover regular curriculum in order to explore topics of interest in greater depth/breadth within their own grade level.
- A higher quality of work than the norm for the given age group.
- The promotion of a higher level of thinking and making connections.
- The inclusion of additional subject areas and/or activities (cross-curricular).
- Using supplementary materials in addition to the normal range of resources.
Assessments

Journal:

Students will keep a daily Dialectical Journal. This journal provides a note-taking format for questioning the text, providing reflections about the text, and interpreting and clarifying the text. The content of this journal will be pulled directly from students’ own reading of the material that they have been assigned. It will also include teacher provided quotes from authors whose works are being read during the year to demonstrate a particular use of language.

Students will use the Dialectical Journal in conjunction with their Close Reading of chunks of text or entire selections with the express purpose of being able to pull words, phrases, sentences, or excerpts and draw conclusions about a character’s motives, author’s purpose, author’s use of diction, or another identified focus.

Students will use the left column of the Dialectical Journal to:
- Cite select words, phrases, sentences or passages directly from the text; document (include page references)
- Paraphrase select passages; document (include page references)
- Summarize as appropriate

Students will use the right column of the Dialectical Journal to write their own emotional reactions, questions, clarifications, and/or reflections.

During the first marking period the teacher will evaluate the journal on a weekly basis. For the remainder of the year, the teacher will evaluate the journals every other week.

Binder: AP Students will maintain loose-leaf binder notebooks, divided into sections as follows: 1. Class notes. 2. Analysis Strategies (graphic organizers, SOAPSTone, OPTIC, TP-CASTT, Syntax Analysis Charts, etc.), 3. Grammar/Writing Templates (e.g. They Say/I Say, Toulmin Model, Graff, MLA formatted documentation and citations, and a variety of sentence constructions). 4. Literary terms and vocabulary. 5. Supplemental Readings and Handouts. 6. Error Analysis.

Syntax Analysis Chart

A Syntax Analysis Chart is a strategy for style analysis as well as an effective revising technique for a student’s own writing. The syntax analysis chart is a five-column table with these headings: Sentence Number, First Four Words, Special Features, Verbs, and Number of Words per Sentence. This tool will help students examine how style adds to meaning and purpose. It helps students identify various writing problems such as: repetitiveness, verb choices, lack of syntactical variety, and lapses in overall organization.

OPTIC

This strategy is highlighted in Walter Park’s book How to Study in College and presents students with key concepts to think about when approaching any kind of visual text, i.e., graphic and visual images as forms of text and the connection of these images to written texts. The following is a sample of an OPTIC lesson with its concurrent steps:

1. Provide student with a single visual text that shows a position or point of view on an issue. One example is Dorothea Lang’s 1936 photo of a migrant mother and her children (Current Issues and Enduring Questions, 156) which showed the American public the poverty of displaced workers during the Great Depression of the 1930s.

2. Instruct students on the OPTIC strategy, step by step.
   - O is for overview – write down a few thoughts on what the visual appears to document.
   - P is for parts – focus on the parts of the visual. Write down any elements or details that appear to be important.
   - T is for title – highlight the words of the title of the visual (if one is available).
   - I is for interrelationships – use the title as the theory and the parts of the visual as clues to detect and isolate the interrelationships in the graphic.
   - C is for conclusion – draw a conclusion regarding the visual in total. What does the visual mean? Summarize the message of the visual in one or two sentences.

3. Assess the effectiveness of this strategy in analyzing visuals. Assessment can be a classroom discussion of the summaries students wrote regarding the message of the visual.

4. Compare and contrast the visual with an expository text dealing with the same subject matter but perhaps from a different position.
RESOURCES FOR UNIT # 3

SOAPSTone

The use of this methodology will enable students to devise a more academic thesis. It is also the AP teacher’s responsibility to provide instruction and feedback on student writing both before and after students revise their work.

- Speaker: The individual or collective voice of the text.
- Occasion: The event or catalyst causing the writing of the text to occur.
- Audience: The group of readers to whom the piece is directed.
- Purpose: The reason behind the text.
- Subject: The general topic and/or main idea.
- Tone: The attitude of the author.
TP-CASTT

This is a poetry analysis strategy which provides students with a framework of routine questions for analyzing, discussing, critiquing, and writing about poetry.

- Title: Think about the title before reading the poem. What do you think the poem will be about?
- Paraphrase: Read the poem and translate it into your own words.
- Connotation: Think about more than the dictionary meaning of the words. What are the ideas and feelings associated with select words?
- Attitude: What is the speaker’s attitude? Is it the same as the poet’s? How do you know?
- Shifts: Are there any shifts in speakers? Or, does the attitude of the speaker change anywhere in the poem?
- Title: Think about the title again. Do you see a different meaning? Explain.
- Theme: What is the poet’s overall message about human nature or about life in general?

Toulmin Model

The Toulmin Model is an Argument Analysis Template which helps students analyze and critique argumentation. It provides a clear framework to help students outline and compose a logical thesis as the basis for planning and developing a convincing argument.

This model divides arguments into three parts: the claim, the grounds and the warrant. The claim is the main point of the essay. The claim may be stated directly as the thesis or it can be implied. The grounds, which are used to support the claim, can be appeals to the emotions or values of the audience or objective evidence. The warrant is the inference that connects the claim to the grounds. It can be a belief that is taken for granted or an assumption that underlies the arguments (Kirszner, 566).

Students will employ academic writing to frame the statement identifying the claim, grounds and warrant.
